Programme of Census Reports and other census information

The Census 1961, England and Wales, Preliminary Report, published in June, 1961, contains a general note on the taking of the census, some brief preliminary statistical commentary and provisional figures of the population, private households and private dwellings for all local authority areas (counties, boroughs, urban and rural districts) regions, conurbations and New Towns.

The County Reports, already published, contain the statistics of local interest which were collected on a 100 per cent basis. The subjects covered are population and acreage; sex, age and marital condition; birthplace, citizenship and nationality; private households, buildings, dwellings, tenure and household arrangements; institutions. County Table 3 was also published separately in a series of Population Dwellings Households leaflets.

The report on Scientific and Technological Qualifications gives statistics of persons with this type of qualification and the occupations and industries in which they work. This report is on a 10 per cent sample basis and relates to Great Britain.

The Report on Welsh Speaking Population gives statistics derived from the answers to the question about speaking the Welsh language addressed to those enumerated in Wales and Monmouthshire.

The Birthplace and Nationality Tables comprise summaries of the information given in the County Reports on birthplace, citizenship and nationality.

The Usual Residence Tables compare the enumerated census population in local areas with the population usually resident in those areas and also give the numbers enumerated who are usually resident outside England and Wales classified by country of usual residence and by age.

The Age, Marital Condition and General Tables mainly comprise summaries of the information given in the County Reports on local populations, age and marital condition, and the various categories of non-private population.

The Housing Tables Part I Buildings Dwellings and Households summarise the information on buildings, dwellings and households given in the County Reports together with more extensive tables for England and Wales.

The Housing Tables Part II Tenure and Household Arrangements summarise the information on tenure and household arrangements given in the County Reports together with more extensive tabulations for England and Wales.

The Housing Tables Part III Local Housing Indices give summary figures of the socio-economic classification of the occupied and retired male population, population in private households, dwellings, households, density of occupation, household arrangements and household composition for each local authority area.

The Housing National Summary Tables contain some basic figures of dwellings and private households for England and Wales only.

The Commonwealth Immigrants in the Conurbations tables give information about people who gave as their birthplace, Jamaica, other Commonwealth territories in the Caribbean, India, Pakistan, Commonwealth countries in Africa (excluding the Union of South Africa), Cyprus or Malta and who lived in the six conurbations in England and Wales. These tables are on a 10 per cent sample basis.

The Household Composition Tables provide figures on the composition and the social and economic characteristics of households and families and the types of person included in these groups and are on a 10 per cent sample basis. Some of the main summary tables are also published in leaflet form as Household Composition National Summary Tables.

The Migration Tables give statistics of the numbers and characteristics of people who changed their usual residence in the year before Census Day; details of their age, marital condition, socio-economic group, occupation and industry are given together with similar information about the remainder of the population classified by the length of time they have lived at their present usual residence. These tables are on a 10 per cent sample basis. Some of the main summary tables have also been published in leaflet form as Migration National Summary Tables Parts I and II.

The Occupation Tables give statistics of the occupied population based on their personal occupation (classified according to the Classification of Occupations, 1960)* with reference to age, marital condition, employment status (manager, employer, etc.) and socio-economic group. These tables are on a 10 per cent sample basis.

The Workplace Tables show the numbers and characteristics of the population resident in one local authority area and working in another. These tables are on a 10 per cent sample basis.

The Socio-economic Group Tables give statistics of the socio-economic groups of the occupied and retired males for all local authority areas. The socio-economic groups are defined in the Classification of Occupations, 1960*. These tables are on a 10 per cent sample basis.

The Industry Tables Part I give statistics of the employed population classified into the branches of industry in which they are employed. The branches of industry are those defined in the Standard Industrial Classification. These tables are on a 10 per cent sample basis.

The Industry Tables Part II give an analysis of each important industry or group of industries showing the principal occupations which contribute to it. These tables are on a 10 per cent sample basis.

A leaflet Occupation and Industry National Summary Tables gives statistics of occupation and industry by age for England and Wales as a whole and leaflets have also been published for each county Occupation Industry Socio-economic Groups containing statistics of local populations for the larger areas by occupation and industry and for all areas by socio-economic group.

The Education Tables give figures relating to the terminal education age of persons resident in local areas and, for England and Wales and the regions and conurbations, classifications by age and occupation. These tables are on a 10 per cent sample basis.

The Fertility Tables give statistics derived from the answers to the questions on date of marriage and number of children which were put to women who had ever been married.

The Great Britain Tables will give statistics on population, birthplace and nationality, housing, household composition, migration, occupation, industry, education and fertility for Great Britain as a whole.

The Index of Place Names gives the location and the census population of places with defined boundaries.

Commentaries. There will be commentaries on Migration and Fertility. In addition there will be an administrative report on the census as a whole and a statistical report on Census Methodology.

These will be compiled and published as soon as time permits.

Note

With regard to census information not presented in the published reports and tables referred to above, Section 4(2) of the Census Act, 1920, empowers the Registrar General, if he so thinks fit, at the request and cost of any local authority or person, to cause abstracts to be prepared containing any such statistical information, being information which is not contained in the census reports made by him, and which in his opinion it is reasonable for that authority or person to require, as can be derived from the census returns.

In particular provision has been made for the extraction during the processing of a selection of 10 per cent sample data for every ward in urban areas and every civil parish in rural districts, and a selection of 100 per cent data for every ward and civil parish in the six conurbations and for some of the wards and civil parishes in the remainder of England and Wales. More details will be supplied on request.

General Explanatory Notes

General Note

The London Government Act (1963) provided for the establishment of a Greater London Council area and the division of this area into the City of London and 32 London Boroughs. This new area covers the former counties of London and Middlesex and parts of Essex, Hertfordshire, Kent and Surrey. For the constitution of the London Boroughs see table overleaf.

The present volume contains some 1961 Census figures for Greater London and each of the London Boroughs. These figures are in the form of a selection of the tables which appeared in the original series of County Reports. To obtain uniform presentation at reasonable cost it has been necessary to restrict the detail shown to the scale originally provided for urban areas with less than 50,000 population at census date. The more extensive tabulations originally made for administrative counties, county boroughs and larger urban areas could not therefore be provided here.

For some areas these figures have been produced by simple addition of the figures for the constituent former administrative areas. Where former administrative areas were split to form the London Boroughs it was usually possible to produce figures by aggregating numbers for complete "Enumeration Districts" (i.e. the area covered by one enumerator). In the few cases where the boundaries of a London Borough divide a 1961 enumeration district an estimate was made of the proportion of such an enumeration district contained in each of the London Boroughs concerned.

In Table 3 which shows population figures for 1961 for wards on the new basis for each London Borough, the majority of new ward boundaries divided one or more enumeration district. Where this happened a manual count was made to estimate the population in the part of the enumeration district falling into each ward.

The table numbers used in the original series of County Reports have been retained in this volume.

Census Population. The 1961 statistics of population of areas, etc. are in respect of the living population enumerated as at midnight 23rd/24th April, 1961. The census population comprises those residents of the area who were at home but not those who were away on census night whether of British or non-British nationality. Visitors from other areas in the United Kingdom and also from abroad (including members of the Armed Forces of Commonwealth or foreign countries, except those aboard foreign naval vessels) are included. Persons enumerated aboard vessels which on census night were at moorings or anchorage in England and Wales or were engaged in coastwise or fishing voyages have been included and classified, with as much accuracy as the information furnished allows, to the appropriate local areas of their anchorage or mooring or, if actually in transit on census night, to their next port or place of call. Persons travelling during the night or who were otherwise inaccessible were counted as part of the population of the area where they arrived the next day, unless they had been previously enumerated.

The enumerated population described above excludes, in particular, members of the Armed Forces and Mercantile Marine outside England and Wales, and in this respect omits a number of persons who might otherwise have been in the area.

For the purpose of using the census figures as a base for the series of annual mid-year estimates, adjustments should be made. The census estimated resident population is composed of the civilian resident population based on the statement of usual residence on the census schedules plus members of the Armed Forces enumerated at stations within the area, plus members of the Armed Forces enumerated in England and Wales outside stations who had homes in the area. This population should be further adjusted by

- (i) deducting members of the Armed Forces enumerated at stations and those resident at married quarters, in the area,
- (ii) adding the estimated number of members of the Armed Forces who were stationed in the area at census date.

- (iii) adding students and children usually resident at colleges, schools and university lodgings in the area,
- (iv) taking out of their home areas the students and children included in (iii) and also those members of the Armed Forces who are outside stations and married quarters in the area.

The population so adjusted forms the estimated resident population at census date (estimate definition) and this figure has been published in the Usual Residence Tables volume. This is the figure comparable with the annual mid-year estimates.

Building

The general definition of a building in the enumerator's instruction book reads as follows:- "Every structure comprising one or more rooms or other spaces within external or party walls is to be regarded as a building".

This general description was amplified by a series of examples and exceptions:

Each house in a semi-detached pair or in a terrace or back-to-back group was to be regarded as a separate building.

A block of flats in which separate apartments were linked by passages or by balconies and staircases or lift-shafts was to be regarded as a single building.

A structure separate from, but subsidiary to, a main building and which was occupied (wholly or partly) by members of the same household as the main building (e.g. staff or other residents) was to be treated as part of the main building. A similar structure occupied only by a separate household or households was to be treated as a separate building. Other subsidiary structures such as a barn near to a farm house or a garage near to a private house, which were not used as living quarters, were not to be regarded as separate buildings.

A group of structures in a common enclosure forming a single factory or similar establishment and not used as living accommodation was treated as a single building.

Caravans, houseboats, barges, boats and other similar mobile structures were treated as buildings only if they were some person's usual residence on census night. Other mobile structures were not included in the tables.

Chalets, huts, shacks, tents, converted railway carriages and similar non-permanent structures were treated as buildings if they were some person's usual residence on census night. Otherwise they were treated as vacant buildings only if they had at least one of the following characteristics (which were concerned only with construction and not state of repair) -

- (a) the shorter main wall was (at a rough visual estimate) 15 ft. or more long, OR
- (b) the walls were of brick, stone and mortar, concrete, breeze blocks or similar materials (walls of wood, asbestos, corrugated iron, stones without mortar, lath or expanded metal and plaster or stonedash were not sufficient) OR
- (c) the roof was of ceramic (not asbestos) tiles, slate, thatch, shingles, concrete (corrugated iron, roofing felt, tarpaulin, etc., were not sufficient).

If the vacant structures had none of these characteristics they were ignored by the enumerators as also were dilapidated buildings which were uninhabitable.

Standard pre-fabricated houses of the kind built after the last war were treated as permanent buildings.

A further note was given to the enumerators to help them to distinguish buildings with walls with lath and plaster or stonedash from those with brick walls rendered in the same way.

Dwelling

The general definition of a dwelling was given as:

"A building or part of a building which provides separate living quarters".

A dwelling was normally a private dwelling house, flat or maisonette built as such, with a front door of its own. Where houses or other buildings had been adapted to provide residential accommodation in smaller units, these smaller units were regarded as dwellings if they were structurally separate i.e. if such a unit had a separate front door to the street and was self-contained (separated from the rest of the building by a wall or solid partition), then it was counted as a dwelling. When access to such a unit was through part of the building, it was counted as a dwelling only if access to the main door was gained by means of a common staircase or landing. If it could only be reached through the quarters occupied or normally occupied by another household (including a hall) it was not counted as a dwelling. In order for such a unit to count as a dwelling it also had to be possible to move between its rooms internally without making use of the common staircase or landing and normally there would only be one door of the unit opening on to the common internal part of the building (disregarding access to shop or office portions of the building).

Normally a dwelling would have more than one living room in addition to kitchen and bathroom, but one-room flats were counted as dwellings if they met the conditions set out above, provided that they either included a separate kitchenette, or had a cooking stove in the room and a separate bathroom and water closet. Bed-sitting rooms (sometimes called one room flatlets) were not counted as separate dwellings.

The whole of the quarters occupied or normally occupied by households (i.e. the household space) within any building had to be included in one or other of the dwellings within it. If the building was arranged in such a way that there was no reasonable way of dividing it into dwellings, the whole building was regarded as a single dwelling.

In a hotel, boarding house, hospital or other institution a private dwelling was identified only if it was occupied by a private household. Generally if such a dwelling was vacant or occupied by members of the institution not constituting a private household it was not counted but married quarters in defence establishments were counted as dwellings without exception. In an institution the provision for counting a unit as a dwelling only if it met certain conditions as to access was modified, in that such private quarters were counted as a dwelling even though access was through the main institution, but not if access was through another private dwelling.

Dwellings have been classified into permanent and non-permanent dwellings. A non-permanent dwelling is a dwelling in a mobile or non-permanent structure of the type not counted as a building unless it was some person's usual residence on census night (see page ix). All other dwellings have been classified as permanent.

Room

A room was defined to the enumerator in the following terms:-

"A room is any covered space surrounded by walls, doors, or windows and used by the household for living, eating or sleeping. Rooms available for these purposes but not actually in use e.g. unfurnished spare bedrooms, should be included.

Landings, lobbies, recesses, closets and bathrooms should not be counted as rooms; nor should store rooms, offices, warehouses, shops or any other rooms used for non-domestic purposes.

A kitchen, kitchenette or scullery should be counted if meals are regularly eaten there, otherwise it should not".

An entry of the number of rooms was also made for institutions such as hotels, boarding houses, holiday camps and other places offering accommodation to the public on similar terms. The instructions read:-

" 'Rooms', means not merely the number of rooms for letting to guests but includes all rooms used for living, eating or sleeping by either staff or guests. Public lounges, dining rooms, private sitting rooms, staff dining and common rooms and bedrooms should be included; store rooms, offices, kitchens, bathrooms, closets, etc. should not. These rules should be applied, as far as applicable, to establishments such as holiday camps consisting of separated chalets. The rooms occupied by any separate household should not be included in this count."

Private Household

A private household was defined to the enumerator as follows:-

"A household comprises one person living alone or a group of persons living together, partaking of meals prepared together and benefiting from a common housekeeping."

A person or persons living but not boarding with a household in a house, flat, etc. should be treated as a separate household. But a person living with a household who usually has at least one main meal a day provided by that household while in residence is part of that household. (Breakfast counts as a meal for this purpose). ....

A household must have exclusive use of at least one room. If two people share one room and do not have exclusive use of at least one other room they should be treated as one household".

The rules for identifying a private household in a hotel, boarding house, hospital or other institution were in general the same as those given above except that a person or group was only treated as a private household if they were either a family group doing much of their catering separately from the institution or a person or group who did not have any meals provided daily by the institution.

The quarters occupied or normally occupied by a household are termed the household space in the tables which relate to dwellings. In a dwelling which is normally occupied by a number of households any vacant accommodation however broken up has been regarded as comprising a single vacant household space.

Households sharing dwellings

Households which did not occupy the whole of a dwelling have been divided into two groups; those which had exclusive use of both a kitchen stove or range and a kitchen sink, and those households which did not have exclusive use of both these facilities. The information to make this division was obtained by verbal enquiry by the enumerator who then made entries 'E' (exclusive use) or 'N' (not exclusive use) in the appropriate panel on the schedule.

Household Arrangements

The census schedule contained the following notes on the different household arrangements:-

"Cold water tap. This refers to a tap within the building. It does not include a tap in an open yard or a public standpipe. If only the latter are available, the answer 'None' should be given.

Hot water tap. This means water piped to any form of heating appliance which will allow hot water to be drawn from a tap within the building, e.g. a boiler, tank with immersion heater, geyser, or sink heater.

Fixed bath. This means a bath permanently installed with a waste pipe leading outside the building. It does not matter for this purpose whether there is water piped to it or whether the room where it is installed is used only as a bathroom or not.

Water closet. This means any water closet emptying into a main sewer, septic tank or cesspool. It does not include a chemical closet or earth closet. It must be within the building or attached to it."

Ownership and Renting

Each household was asked to state how they occupied their accommodation. The categories listed (the answer 'Yes' to be given to one of the categories) were:-

(a) As owner occupiers (including purchase by mortgage)

As well as freeholders this category included households which occupied their accommodation on a lease which was originally granted for more than 21 years, or had been extended for more than 21 years. If the accommodation was held on a shorter lease it should have been included in one of the other categories.

(b) By renting it with a farm, shop or other business premises

(c) By virtue of employment

A household should have been included in this category if the accommodation was provided in connection with the employment of a member of the household and would cease to be provided after the employment came to an end. The tied cottage and the caretaker's flat were the examples cited on the schedule, other examples are accommodation provided by a firm for its employees, that provided by the Police for police officers and the vicarage. This category did not include cases where an employer obtained the accommodation for an employee, without any condition as to employment.

Where a person obtained the accommodation by virtue of his employment, but had since retired from or left that employment the household should still have been included in this category. Generally, such accommodation would be occupied for a limited period after the particular employment came to an end.

(d) By renting it from the Council or New Town Corporation

(e) By renting it from another landlord, furnished or unfurnished

The household had to specify whether the accommodation was rented furnished or unfurnished.

(f) In some other way - please give details

This category was provided for various tenancies where the household might be in doubt as to the correct answer: in such cases a full description was sought. All these cases have been assigned, on the basis of the information given, to one of the other categories.

Dwellings have been classified by tenure according to the tenure of the household(s) which occupied them. If the dwelling was shared by more than one household its tenure was regarded as being that of the household whose tenure appeared first on the following ranked list of tenure categories:- owner-occupied; rented with farm, shop or other business premises; held by virtue of employment; rented from local authority; rented from another landlord - unfurnished or rented from another landlord - furnished.

Non-private households

The term "Non-private households" covers people who were enumerated in hotels, boarding houses and institutions or otherwise grouped in establishments with some functional purpose other than that of providing food or satisfying other domestic convenience. It includes also people in defence establishments, ships at moorings or anchorage or on coastwise voyages, and a small miscellaneous element. A household classified by the enumerator as private was re-classified in the census office as non-private if the number of boarders or the number of inmates, patients, or staff, etc., was five or more. In 1951, in doubtful cases, where there were ten or more people in the group, the household was treated as non-private if the number of boarders exceeded the number in the family of the head of the household; all households with under ten people were treated as private. If all the people who were enumerated in a non-permanent structure (huts, chalets, etc.) or in a mobile structure (caravans, houseboats, etc.) gave a usual residence elsewhere, they were all transferred to the residual "other population" group of non-private households.

In some institutions there are private households having separate accommodation and catering, e.g. the medical superintendent of a hospital with his family, the headmaster of a school or a hotel manager. These have been excluded from the non-private households to which they are attached and included with other private households; their accommodation has been included in the private dwellings. In 1951 they were included in the non-private population.

Some notes on various types of non-private household follow:-

Hotels, etc.

Hotels, boarding houses, apartment houses, inns, holiday camps, and other similar establishments providing board and accommodation. Hydropathic hotels, nature cure camps and similar establishments are included. Households containing 5 or more boarders or paying guests are included. Hostels, Rowton Houses and youth hostels are classified as miscellaneous communal establishments. Establishments which although described as hotels have no sleeping accommodation for guests are treated as private households.

The 1961 figures for hotels, etc. are not wholly comparable with similar figures obtained from the 1951 Census. In 1951, hotels were enumerated on private household schedules but the enumerator was instructed to note the nature of any household which contained 10 or more people or which occupied 10 or more rooms. This information was used to identify hotels at the processing stage. In 1961, hotels were identified by the enumerator who then enumerated them on Institution schedules. The effect of this difference is that any hotel or boarding house of more than 10 rooms which did not clearly advertise the fact (and which the 1961 enumerator therefore might not recognise) was liable in 1961 to be issued with a private household schedule and counted as a private household whereas in 1951 it would in all probability have been classified as a hotel or boarding house. The impact of this change in procedure was reduced in many places by the processing convention adopted in 1961 that any household with 5 or more boarders should be treated as a boarding house but in a number of areas with seasonal boarding houses and hotels this convention would have little effect as there would be few boarders present at the time of the census. In general the number of boarding houses and hotels in 1961 may be lower than if 1951 conditions applied.

Rooms in hotels, boarding houses, etc.

The number of rooms to be entered on the schedule was not merely the number of rooms for letting to guests but included all rooms used for living, eating or sleeping by either staff or guests. This included public lounges, dining rooms, private sitting rooms, staff dining and common rooms and bedrooms; store rooms, offices, kitchens, bathrooms and closets were to be excluded. As far as possible these rules were to be applied to establishments such as holiday camps consisting of separated chalets. The rooms occupied by any separate private household were not included in this count.

Hospitals

(i) N.H.S. Hospitals

These are hospitals and homes administered by a Hospital Management Committee or Board of Governors or directly by the Ministry of Health. Nurses', etc. homes or hostels administered by a Hospital Management Committee or Board of Governors whether part of the hospital premises or not are included.

Hospitals classified by the Ministry of Health as "psychiatric" have been included as Psychiatric hospitals.

(ii) Non N.H.S. Hospitals

This group includes:- mental and other hospitals or nursing homes registered or exempted from registration under Sections 187-194 of the Public Health Act, 1936 (and the corresponding London Act); Christian Science Homes; Convalescent Homes not required to register or apply for exemption under the Public Health Acts and not vested in the Minister of Health; Homes and hostels for the mentally disordered maintained by Local Authorities under Section 28 of the National Health Service Act, 1946 or registered under Section 37 of the National Assistance Act, 1948.

Nurses', etc. homes or hostels attached to such hospitals or nursing homes are treated as for N.H.S. hospitals.

Homes for the Old and Disabled

These are:- residential accommodation in use under Section 21(1) of the National Assistance Act, 1948 including accommodation made available in premises maintained by voluntary organisations; homes for old and/or disabled persons including cripples, blind, deaf, etc., registered with the local authority under Sections 37-40 of the National Assistance Act, 1948.

Children's Homes

These are:- children's homes and hostels provided under the Children Act, 1948; voluntary children's homes and hostels registered under the Children Act, 1948; households in which the number of children boarded out in accordance with Section 13 of the Children Act, 1948 or maintained under Section 206 of the Public Health Act, 1936 is 5 or more.

Educational establishments

These are residential schools, training colleges, theological colleges and university halls of residence and students' hostels administered by schools, colleges and universities. Training schools provided exclusively for a single employer or for a trade association or government department are excluded and treated as miscellaneous communal establishments. Residential schools and homes for handicapped, educationally sub-normal and maladjusted children maintained or assisted by education authorities are included here and not as Children's Homes. Religious institutions which are boarding schools or which are living accommodation for teachers at day schools are included.

Places of detention

These are prisons, borstals, approved schools, classifying schools, remand homes, detention centres, and police stations containing a lock-up where someone might be detained overnight.

Defence establishments, including Naval vessels and Service hospitals

These are:- Army and Air Force camps or establishments; naval shore stations and vessels manned by service personnel; services hospitals; establishments enumerated under security arrangements. Civilians in service establishments including N.A.A.F.I., etc. staff are included. Hostels for N.A.A.F.I., etc. personnel even if outside the curtilage of a camp are included. Service personnel or civilians living in separate married quarters and residential caretakers or N.C.O.s. in Territorial Army Drill Halls are excluded and treated as private households. Fleet Auxiliary vessels are included.

Civilian ships, boats and barges

This includes all civilian ships, boats and barges but excludes lightships and houseboats i.e. vessels permanently moored to the land or to another house-boat or secured by a permanent gangway, and incapable of being moved under their own power, and being used as living accommodation.

Miscellaneous communal establishments

These are:- temporary accommodation for homeless and evicted persons; accommodation for persons with no settled way of life; re-establishment centres under the National Assistance Act, 1948; religious communities not elsewhere classified; hostels, including youth hostels, Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., Church Army, Salvation Army hostels; workers' hostels attached to training establishments which are excluded from educational establishments; Rowton Houses and similar working men's hostels; common lodging houses; residential clubs; police section houses, fire stations; homes, hostels and residential clubs for district nurses and private nursing associations; probation homes and hostels; homes (not maternity) for unmarried mothers; missions and settlements.

Quality of Results

In 1961 for the first time a post-enumeration survey was taken in order to check the information collected at the census. A full description of the survey will be given in the General Report on the census; in the explanatory notes to volumes of tables the post-enumeration survey results will only be given where they give a warning of poor quality in figures appearing in the volume.

The items relevant to this volume which were checked in the post-enumeration survey were the total count of population and households, age, marital condition, birthplace and nationality, tenure and household arrangements.

The survey results show little apparent difference in the total count of persons or households or the distribution of the population by marital condition or the statement on Birthplace and Nationality. As regards the statement of age the comparison between the census itself and the post-enumeration survey is not as illuminating as a comparison of both with birth and death registration data which will be discussed in the General Report.

Tenure

The number of households returned as renting their accommodation unfurnished from a private person or company was understated on the original census schedule compared with the post-enumeration survey. The households which should have been returned as "renting unfurnished" were returned in all other groups except "holding their accommodation by virtue of employment". The post-enumeration survey indicates that the numbers wrongly returned in the other groups did not differ greatly. However because of the sampling errors involved only the overstatement of the number renting furnished is statistically significant.

Household Arrangements

(i) Cold water tap

The post-enumeration survey indicates that the number of households returned as being without a cold water tap is understated but it is not possible to give an accurate estimate of the degree of understatement due to the relatively small size of this group of households.

(ii) Water closet

The post-enumeration survey indicates that the number of households returned as being without a watercloset is understated. Some ambiguity in the wording of the questionnaire used for the post-enumeration survey means that the amount of understatement cannot be estimated accurately but it appears that the number of such households was at least 1.5 million in England and Wales as a whole compared with the number returned of 1,008,002.

Presentation Conventions

A dash (-) indicates that the quantity is zero.

A blank indicates that a particular combination of line and column is impossible.

In the presentation of rates, a rate shown as 0 indicates that the actual rate is less than one half of a unit but is not zero.

Map

Table 19 Population in all
Private Households by
Density of occupation
(persons per room)

Greater London, City of London and London Boroughs

Notes:- (1) For definitions of households and rooms, see pp. x and xi.
(2) This table is restricted to households of which at least one member was present at Census.
(3) The rates entered in column J have been derived from Table 11 of the 1951 Census County Report, and relate to areas as constituted at the date of the 1951 Census. Areas affected by subsequent boundary changes, for which as a result only approximate figures, or in some cases no figures, can be given, have been marked with an asterisk.
